FROM MARRAKECH

take the ourika road south out of marrakech. (this is the big road avenue mohammed vi that intersects with the airport road). at 38 km take the left turn signposted to ait ourir and tnine ourika (known as lundi). follow this road drive through the village which is quite large, cross the river (there is a post office on the right just after the bridge). follow the road out of the village, it bends to the right and then to the left uphill. after 500m there is a sign indicating bends in the road and a sign to the kasbah (and a large stone wall on the right) and just after that and at the end of the stone wall there is a road on the right going back to the direction you have come from.

turn right onto the piste road and follow the signposts to the kasbah (3 km) which is on the hill in front of you.

FROM THE SOUTH (OUAZARZATE)

take the road to marrakech. after you cross the mountains you will come to a town called ait ourir. at ait ourir turn left on a road sign posted tnine ourika (means monday in arabic). follow this road for 14 km until you get close to tnine ourika. at 14 km there is a left turning (at 11.00) on to a piste road. take this road for 3km and follow the signs to the kasbah.

FROM AGADIR

when you arrive at tahanout take the right turn signposted to tnine ourika and agrab. you will arrive at agrab and take the right turn to the ourika valley.

just after the right turn at 38 km take the left turn signposted to ait ourir and tnine ourika (known as lundi). follow this road drive through the village, which is quite large, cross the river (there is a post office on the right just after the bridge). follow the road out of the village, it bends to the right and then to the left uphill. after 500m there is a sign indicating bends in the road (and a large stone wall on the right) and just after that and at the end of the stone wall there is a piste road on the right going back to the direction you have come from. turn right onto the piste road and follow the signposts to the kasbah.
